make this moment last forever

commission an original portrait

the process

1. Choose a photograph

You and I will work together to choose which photograph of your loved one will make the best finished piece.

2. Choose a size

From as small as 8" x 10" to as large as 3' x 4', choose the size which fits your budget and needs.

3. Approve the design

Before I begin the final painting I will make a small, very rough study to give you an idea of layout and color. All preparatory sketches and studies I make belong to you, and you will receive them with the final piece at no extra charge.

4. Sit back and relax!

Paintings typically take 1-2 months to complete, depending upon size and complexity. You will receive an update at the one-month mark. When I feel it is finished I will send you a picture of the piece to approve, at which point you will be able to request any small changes to the piece.

pricing structure

all prices include any original sketches and studies

At the beginning of the process you will receive an invoice for half of the total cost to be paid up front. Once the piece is finished, it will be shipped to you along with any sketches and studies I did in preparation. At that time you will receive a final invoice for the remaining balance + shipping.
